

BurgerDisk Smartport Hard Disk for Apple II

Quickstart

Thank you for getting a BurgerDisk! I hope you will like it.

The User Manual is available at

<https://www.colino.net/wordpress/wp-content/burgerdisk-user-manual.pdf>

Here are the most relevant parts:

Insert a FAT-formatted microSD card in the slot, face up. The volumes presented to the Apple II must be named PART1.po to PART4.po, or be referenced in a config.txt file containing up to four lines with the filenames. For example:

A2Desktop.hdv

Total_Replay.hdv

ProDOS 2.4.3.po

Do not hotplug Apple II storage devices while the Apple II is powered on.

Plug any "dumb" 3.5inch drive first, followed by the DominoDisk and Smartport devices, followed by 5.25" drives.

Your enclosure comes with a placeholder logo taped at the front. You can either glue it, or replace it with a real vintage Apple logo if you have one!

Have fun,

Colin
